The moment temperature reached 60 degree (from 30), the boiler cut off. Same as above - 2nd and 3rd light flashing (Faulty mode). Now the temperature is dropping slowly....it will reach to 30 again in few minutes. This means for both - DHW or CH, the moment temperature reach 60 degree the boiler is going off. Is there some censor? Do I need to change any setting? Regards, Ajit switch the electric supply to the boiler off, leave off for 5 mins.turn central heating temp dial down to 2 and dhw dial to 2 also, after 5 mins turn electric supply back on and watch carefully and note ,the 3 lights behaviour and report , we need the boiler to come on /central heating on so ensure wall thermostat etc are calling for heat. Hi Terry Looks like the problem is solved now. Thanks for your precious time and the suggestion. Here is what I did: I switched off the electric supply. Set both DH & CH dial to 2. Room Thermostat to 24. Mode - Auto position. After 10 minutes started the power supply. First 1 minute - only CH ON: Lamp 1 & 2 simultaneously (Frost protect operation) Next 10 minutes - Hot water tap started - both CH & DHW ON: Lamp 1 & 3 alternate (DHW operation) [Temperature reached to 55 degree and settled there] Next 2 minutes - Hot water tap closed: Lamp 1 & 2 simultaneously (Frost protect operation). So temperature reduced from 55 to 35 Next 10 minutes - only CH ON: Lamp 1 & 2 simultaneously (Frost protect operation) After this, I set room Thermostat to 20. This has put the boiler to Normal operation - Lamp 1 flashing. After that I did the following steps. 10 minutes: Hot water tap started - Only DHW ON: Lamp 1 & 3 alternate (DHW operation) [Temperature reached to 55 degree and settled there] So in summary, both hot water and central heating are working perfectly fine.
